

COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY

Colorado State University is proud to host the 23rd North American Barley Researchers Workshop (NABRW) and 43rd Barley Improvement Conference from Sunday, October 17, 2021 to Wednesday, October 20, 2021. The venue for the workshop is still being determined but will be on or very near the Colorado State University Campus in Fort Collins, Colorado.

We cordially invite you to attend and are sure you will find the workshop very worthwhile. For over 60 years, this conference has brought together the barley community for knowledge-sharing and networking. At the workshop, you will learn the latest developments in barley science and end-use technology, tour malting facilities, the Fermentation Science Technology facilities, and sample diverse malt-based beverages and foods. You will also have a chance to experience the vibrant Fort Collins area, which is home to many cultural and recreational attractions and near Rocky Mountain National Park.

The website for the conference will be created soon for registration, donation, and abstract submission portals.

For general questions regarding the workshop, contact Harmonie Bettenhausen at harmonie.bettenhausen@colostate.edu or 970-982-9955 or Adam Heuberger at adam.heuberger@colostate.edu
